FEDERAL

IMPACT: Local

Summary of Legislation: The bill requires a school corporation to use money received as an academic honors diploma award for expenditures directly related to the school corporation's academic honors diploma program and program for high ability students. The bill requires a school corporation to report to the Department of Education (the Department) how the award money was spent.

Effective Date: July 1, 2005.

Explanation of State Expenditures:

Explanation of State Revenues:

Explanation of Local Expenditures: Summary: Under the bill, local schools would no longer be permitted to distribute academic honors diploma award money to students receiving an honors diploma. Schools would only be able to use award money for the following: (1) staff training, program development, equipment, supplies, or other expenses directly related to the school corporation's academic honors diploma program; and (2) a school corporation's program for high ability students.

Under the bill, a school would be required to provide the Department an annual report on the programs and services that receive money from the academic honors diploma award. Schools not submitting a report would not be eligible to receive their award until the reports were submitted.

Background: The following table describes the number of schools and the amount of academic honors diploma monetary awards granted per school year.
